Islamic Scholarship Fund: ISF National Film Grant

The mass media has an undoubtedly powerful influence on society's perceptions and beliefs about the subjects portrayed. While the spread of Internet media sources and social networking sites provide outlets for alternative voices, traditional mass media still reaches a larger number of people and holds substantial power in determining what information is deemed important. The Islamic Scholarship Fund Film Grant specifically aims to facilitate and support Muslims entering the world of film, who intend to create artistic, engaging and positive stories about Muslims. The chosen recipient will receive a grant, which allows them to focus their energy and attention entirely on the creative process. Grant recipients will also receive mentorship and/or networking opportunities from an industry professional to help further the advancement of their script and film. The grant will be split into two categories: narrative and documentary. Narratives will be awarded $20,000 and documentary will be rewarded $10,000.

➤ ELIGIBILITY

- This must be a first or second film for the filmmaker
- Project may be a narrative feature length, short film, animation or documentary
- Filmmaker must film at least 50% in the U.S.
- At least two members of the creative team must be Muslim
- The content must have Muslim characters or themes

➤ Award Recipient will receive:

- Cash grant up to $20,000 for narrative and $10,000 for documentary
- Creative support from an industry professional during creative process
- Networking opportunities with industry professionals
- ISF Screening after completion of the film

➤ Selection Process:

There will be three rounds for the selection process:

1. Submission of Letter of Interest (March 10th- May 10th)
2. Submission of Application (June 10th-July 10th)
3. Remote interview (September)
4. Final Announcement (October)

Each applicant will be asked to submit a one-page letter of interest. The judges will review the strongest stories to advance to the next round: application. During the application stage the applicant will be required to submit a written proposal, a 3-4 minute pitch video, work sample, script or outline. The judges will review these applications and will choose 3 applicants to advance to the interview stage.

1. Round 1

- Letter of Interest: Applicant will submit a one-page letter of interest introducing themselves and their project. This should include background of the applicant, brief description of your project, how this project aligns with the goals of ISF, and how this grant will help you make this film.

2. Round 2

- Video Pitch: Applicant will submit a 3-4 minute video pitching their project. This video should take us on a visual journey of your film. Make sure to discuss the characters, story, obstacles, goals and resolution. Also discuss why you deserve the grant and how it is in line with ISF's mission and goals.
- Proposal: The applicant will submit a one-page proposal to accompany their pitch video. This proposal should include a synopsis of the project, the proposed budget, shooting location and days, as well as distribution strategy.
- Work Sample: The applicant must include one short 2-4 min work sample, such as a short film, music video, commercial, screenplay, etc. You may take an excerpt from a previous project or current project. If you do not have a sample we encourage you to film one. Please include a link to the work. DVDs and non-online samples will not be accepted.
- Script: If the applicant is submitting a feature length script, they must submit the first 10 pages of the script with their application. If submitting a short film they will submit the entire script. For documentaries an outline or script will be accepted.

3. Round 3

- The top three applicants will be contacted for remote interviews.
- What the judges are looking for?
  - Strength of script (Is the story compelling and unique?)
  - Strength of work samples (Can applicant execute the proposed project?)
  - Strength and confidence in video pitch (Does the applicant create a visual story and is passionate about the project and its goal?)
  - Strength of production plan (Is the grant right for the applicant? Is the production plan well thought out and realistic?)
  - Original subject matter and a unique vision creating a positive light for Muslims.

We will start accepting letter of interests starting March 10th through our online application submission platform. Please stay tuned for updates. Thank you!
